1) Call the permanent (France, Russia, China + US and UK)) and non-permanent (Bulgaria, Cameroon, Guinea, Mexico, Syria, Angola, Chile, Germany, Pakistan, Spain) members of the UN Security Council and ask them not to support a war against Iraq. Receiving a thousand phone calls (this message goes to several thousand) would send a clear message of non-support from the American people, and help the SC members resist the overtures and bribes of the US administration. The appropriate contact information is in the last item. To pass a resolution, the SC must generate nine "yes" votes and no vetoes.

Working in our favor is the fact that the rotating presidency of the Security Council is held in January by France, and in February by Germany, two clear foes of an attack against Iraq.

For your convenience, here are the UNSC email addresses which I have available, so that you may cut and paste them in a message:
